Our lines are very long, but we are too strong to be broken. Hood is in limbo. He may escape with a part of his men, but a retreat will be the signal for a push which will destroy the remnant of his broken command, which does not number to day, exclusive of cavalry, 35,000 men; and I think 30,000 a fair estimate. Sherman could capture Atlanta in an hour, any time; but his objective point is the rebel army, and not a city. When he atrikes it will be for the annihilation of the rebel army. proceeding to New York, but our reporter is not at liberty to disulge she exact route taken, nor the name of the vessel in which he sailed.

It must suffice now to say that he was discovered in this whis.—A little girl, the daughter of the cabman at whose house Flancis Muller had lived, said that after his leaving, four days ago, she found in his room a small cardboard box, such as Jewellets put in p their various wares le; and upon exhibiting it to her father he remembered the name of the tradesman with whom the chain of the had been immediately communicated with the police suthorities, and the box was by them taken to Mr. Death's astablishment, that person's name and address being engraved on the leaded. Upon it being shown to flow to be the state one of the beath as a done described in have been taken from the late unfortunate gentleman. Mr. Briggs, and which had been identified in his respect. That slight clue having been obtained, of course the next step was to connect Mailer with the man who sold the chain to the contage at Bow, where Muller had lived, and upon seeing a photograph Muller had gives to the child, he at oace recognized the leadenship of the murder, and which had been found in the carriage on the residence of the name of the police.

The seemed to conclusive that Inspector Thompson, proceeded to How sirest police office, and there so thained a warrant for the apprehension of Francel Muller, The acut step was to happered to marderer, and as he had now the probable residence of the now wang his bedriges, astend the line.

The seemed to conclusive that Inspector Thompson, proceede hension of Francis Muller. The next step was to inquire as to the probable residence of the now suspected marderer, and as he had, on leaving his lodgings, stated his intention of going abroad, close inquiry was set on foot as to any person bearing a similar resembiance having left the country. Sucress, crowned the inquiries of the soute detectives, and a person fully identified as the suspected murderer. suspected murderer.

Bu FLISS TO NEW YORK.

Muller was secretained to have left London four days ago in a ship bound direct for New York, the passage occupying on the average nineteen days, and which, having cleared the Downs many hours before the inquiries were set afoot, must be far away before this reaches the public eve.

Part of these facts came out by the contestion of some of the parties, and more were elicited from a girl named Lossan, who had been lidnapped and kept in confinement as the next victim. This girl had been obligad to carry issed to cliarina during the four days of preparation.

BISTORY OF MULLER. The history of Muller. The history of Muller, so far sa can at present be gleaned, shows that he came to this country about eighteen months ego, and followed his occupation as a tailor, and it was not unfrequently noticed that he shad it his possession a very handsome gold watch and complained, and most bitterly, of the loss in had sastained. Since the murder, he has, as has now been ascertained, shown on several occasions a watch, a very handsone one, and said he had saved an panone enough to buy it, and was quite contented at having been able to get one. The chain which the man Muller obtained from Mr. Death, he pledged on Tuesday at a pawnroker's in the city, and sold the ticket on the day following to another tailor, a friend of his, a German. This man, upon being questioned by Inspector Thompson, at Scotland yard, admitted that he had read about the murder, but had not said abything to any one about the chain, and it has not been considered that there was sufficient evidence to justify the police in detaining him for any completty in the murder. He will, however, remain under survailiance so as to be forthcoming at the trial upon Muller's being brought back to this country. No trace whatever has been found of the watch itself, and it may be fairly expected, and 'for the ends of justice hoped, that Muller has it still in his possession, and that it will be found upon him, so as to constitute an undoubted link in the chain of evidence. The servants of the railway authorities speak confidently as to their ability to identify the nead supposed to have got into the carriage with Mr. Briges, and it is understood that the photograph of Muller will be shown to them to add to the cherumstantial evidence already obtained.

ways, mays the cheapest articles of food at present prices are bread—expecially corn meal—butter, moissaces, beans and rice. It colows that 35 cents worth of four, at 8 cents perpound; contains as much nourishment as 25.35 worth of roast heet at 35 cents perpound; and that a plut of white beans, costing 7 cents, has the same amount of antiment as 35, pounds of bed at 25 cents perpound, or, in other words, the roast bed diet is twelve times as expensive as the beans. Furthermore, a pound of findian meal will go as tar as a pound of fine flour costing nearly twice as much. Here are some of the common articles of food, showing the amount of natriment contained and the time required for digestion: THE OFFICERS IN PURSUIT.

Government resources were at once asked for and granted. Sir George Grey gave every facility, and an Admiralty steamer from Liverpool has some hours since borne inspector Tanner and Sergeant. Clarke to arrest the murderer, or more probably await his arrival on his landing, as the steamer, hearing accidents, will reach America at least four days before the sailing vessel that conveys the villain fring from unstice.

Mr. Death, the Jeweiler, and the cabman, whose name our reporter did not ascertain, accompassed the detective police officers in the Government steamer, for the purpose of personally identifying Muller, and indoubt whatever exists in the minds of the police that Muller will son be in the heads of justice. The class so far obtained has been of course some additional incentive to laquiries likely to prove successful. In the process of paper and cloth manufac-ture from this corn fiber, all portions of the bask are converted into paper stuff, spinning stuff, or bask meel, which is mixed with common flour. Ninetees per cent of paper stuff, or hask meal, which is mixed with common flour. Ninetees per cent of paper fiber, ten of spinning material, and eleven of feed stuff are obtdined, together making forty per cent, leaving a refuse of sixty per cent, much of it fine fiber and gluten, which may yet be filtered and utilized.

What is most gratifying, is the fact that even in the infancy of the invention it is profitable. An expenditure of 278,740 florins in the manufacture yielded a gross return of 279,000 florins, exclusive of rent and use of capital employed. According to the above tables, cucumbers are of very little value, and apples, cabbages, turnips, and even potatoes, at present prices, are expensive eating. Some regetables and fruits abould, however, enter into the family American Sneaks in Canada.

At present there is a stream of emigrants to Canada of all persons who have left their country for its good. They are of three classes—runaways from the South, who was their section to win, but are too cowardly to fight; refugees from the North, who dread being celled to fight for their country; and a few thuld persons from both North and South, who fear to lose their little property in the commotion of war. A letter from Niagara Falis to the St. Louis Byuddieas speaks of these refugees in the following not very compilmentary terms:

"Fromment among those here—and they may be found also at Hamilton. Toronto, Kingaton and Windson—is the typical Southern fire-cater, whose appetite for war is tumense. He can himself whip five detestable Yankees. He belongs to earth's nobility; has never believed in the 4—4 Yankee Government; in fact has been a tory descandant of a tory family. Sad to say, this bead cheafer is seedy and out at albows. His punctuous talling the seed of the see der and outrage of a Mrs. Adeine Duren, on the evening of the 20th, by a negro. A committee of citizens appointed to investigate, reported that early on the evening of the 25th inst. Mrs. Adeline Duren, a widow lady, highly esteemed by all who knew her, was murdered, mangled and outraged at home, within a stone's throw of neighbors all around, and shout forty rods from the hall where nearly all the community were assembled to hear a phrenological lecture. After the lecture, her daughter returned home, found the lamp still burning, saw blood on the floor, but did not find her mother. She give the alarm, and the neighbors soon found the lamp still burning, saw blood in the floor, but did not find her mother. She give the alarm, and the neighbors soon found the body, the skull broken in three places, and the bead nearly severed from the body. Appearances plainly indicated that the body was ravished after the murder had been committed. A coroner's insquest was held, which resulted in a verdict that the decreased came to her death by violence, which was inflicted by an axe in the hands of some perion or persons unknown. A negro asmed Warren had been seen going to wards the house atom teight or nine o'clock. He was arrested, and in terrorcontessed that he went to the house, found her alone, struck her with an axe on the head, outraged her, examined the house for mosey, and was about to leave, when he rose up and went out of doors. He followed her and soon killed her.

The negro was tried by a committee of citizens, found guilty, and executed immediately.

the Union on any terms. "we suppose that is one condition they do not reckon on—defeat!

Among the poor, miserable fellows who linger and sponge around the hotels here, are certain parties known here as "bonaty jumpers"—that is, persons who successively enlist in some of the cities of the North, get the bounty and desert, and keep on repeating the precess. As many as sine were pointed out to me to-day. One of them, however, named Moore, was recently such back from Baltimore in his coffin, being detected in the act of deserting. There are, beside, a goodly share of men who elsim to be "escaped prisoners" from Camp Chase, Kelly's island and elsewhere. Perhaps half of them are impostors, who never were prisoners of war, but I fear that very many of the rebels are not held in our hands, but are all, ping through our fingers. It is a forchie comment upon the devotion to the South and its prespects, that they are quite contented to remain in Canada, and insist that it is impossible for them to get back South."
